Anything Left-Handed is situated in a small quirky shop at 57 Brewer Street, London W1.

The business started over 30 years ago and the product range has increased from 40 items to over 200 different products. These range from the traditional left-handed scissors and fountain pens through to a host of knives, books, computer peripheral and kitchen implements—there's even a left-handed boomerang. Both the directors are left-handed, as are all the staff, so you can be assured that when you visit Anything Left-Handed there will be somebody who understands the everyday problems left-handers can face.

For those who are unable to visit the shop, Anything Left-Handed offer a mail order service. To obtain a copy of their catalogue either e-mail enquiries@ anythingleft-handed.co.uk or contact the head office on 020 8715 1220.
